« Textile – métiers d’avenir » (« Textile : jobs of future »)
The new book made by UIT

Having started as a craft-based industry, textile has now become one of the jewels in the crown of world industry. Millions of products have been created to enhance the human figure, to ensure the wellbeing and comfort of man and its habitat.

This book illustrates in a clear and synthetic manner the different markets of textile products, the organization of the industry in France with its main partners and its collective resources
